

W PARTY PEOPLE

DEEP FRIEZE

John Pawson is responsible for the clean look of Calvin Klein boutiques—so what better venue than the future home of London's Design Museum, brainchild of the English starchitect, to host a Calvin Klein dinner during the Frieze Art Fair?

Clockwise, from top: Francisco Costa and Elle Macpherson; Tali Lennox and Erin O'Connor; Freida Pinto; Italo Zucchelli, Jefferson Hack, and Lily Donaldson.

DANCING IN THE DARK

How do you keep New York socials happy? Try well-stocked bars, fancy hors d'oeuvres, and a candlelit pool, like the one at the Museum of the City of New York's annual New York After Dark party, held at the Four Seasons and sponsored by Valentino and Graff.

NIGHT CRAWLERS

From Moscow to London to downtown New York, fashion fetes and art-world dinners set the night on fire.

MOVIN' ON DOWN

Whitney Museum devotees will soon have to get used to schlepping to downtown Manhattan for their art viewing. Best to ease them in with a star-studded affair, as the museum did with its annual fall gala: Honoring art writer Calvin Tomkins, it was held in an abandoned bus depot outfitted with disco balls.

RUSSIAN DOLLS

Moscow isn't exactly on the regular party circuit, but trust Dasha Zhukova to lure her friends there for the launch of Garage magazine—and Marina Abramovic's "The Artist Is Present," which was opening at the Garage Center for Contemporary Culture.

Clockwise, from top left: Jennie Lombardo and Maryna Linchuk; Polina Deripaska and Dasha Zhukova; Marina Abramovic; Klaus Biesenbach.

ARTS & LEISURE

Forget starving artists: Andrea Dibelius, Frieze Art Fair directors Amanda Sharp and Matthew Slotover, and W magazine threw a bash for the Frieze Projects' 2011 artists at London's swanky new Arts Club.
